Let's Start!

Peter has bad news! What's it about? Is it about the interview?

Learning Outcome

Exchange information on instructions about basic activities and safety at work.

Can Do Statements

- I can give and respond to bad news.
- I can talk about current actions.
- I can express statements joined by and, or, but.

Ask your partner:

- How do you share bad news?
- What do you say when someone shares bad news with you?

Let's Explore!

Peter shares bad news with Sally. How does Sally respond?

* "News" is new information. It can be bad or good.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Hey Peter! What are you doing? Did you get a call?
Peter: I'm checking my e-mail. Unfortunately, no news about the interview!
Sally: I know how you must be feeling, but you know what they say, no news is good news!
Peter: I really want this job!
Sally: Don't worry!
Peter: I don't think they like me. I'm stressing out! Nothing is coming up!
Sally: It's sunny outside! Why don't we go out and do something? It can help take your mind off things.
Peter: Great idea, but I regret to tell you that it's supposed to rain.
Sally: Oh dear! That's unfortunate! You are funny, Peter! We could go to the park or we could go to the museum!
Peter: Let's go to the museum.

Let's Practice!

And, or, but? Where do they go?

Instructions: Complete the sentences with the correct connector: and, or, but.

1. I know how you must be feeling, _____ you know what they say, no news is good news!
2. Great idea, _____ I regret to tell you that it's supposed to rain.
3. Why don't we go out _____ do something?
4. We could go to the park _____ we can go to the museum!

Let's Practice!

Time to practice speaking! Let's respond to bad news.

Instructions: Practice reading aloud the sentences.

1. Unfortunately, I have no news about the interview!
2. I've got some bad news for you!
3. I regret to inform you that it's supposed to rain! Oh dear!

Learning Points

Giving and Responding to Bad News

There are different ways to give and respond to bad news.

	Examples
Giving bad news	I've got some bad news for you! I regret to inform you that ... I'm sorry but ... Unfortunately,
Responding to bad news	Oh no/dear! I can't believe it! I'm sorry to hear that ... That's unfortunate/awful! I know how you must be feeling!

Present Simple Tense

Use the Present Simple to talk about facts and usual actions.

To form the negative, use do/does not before the verb.

Do not add s to the verb when used with he, she, it.

Pay attention to the short form don't. It's used in talking.

To form a yes/no question, use do/does and change the word order like this: Do/Does + subject + verb

Do not add s to the verb with he, she, it.

Examples:

- I really want this job!
- Don't worry.
